

Applicants BBQ 2019

„Is math really that hard?“, „What do you study?“, „Where did you graduate?“, „Do you still have ketchup?“

We answered these and similar questions at the „Getting to know each other“ barbecue, where we invited all applicants for our bachelor and master degrees to get to know us and the campus. The first contacts were made in sunny weather, cool drinks and sausages and some will certainly meet again in October for the preliminary course. In addition there were one or two Flunkyball games until the last ones said goodbye in the evening.

We wish all first time students a good start into their studies!
